

Policy: Case Management of Children in the CEO's Care

Policy Purpose

Case management of children who are in the Care of the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) will focus on the child's safety and wellbeing, timely decisions, cultural security, stability and permanency.

Policy Statement

The Case Manager, under the supervision of the Team Leader, has the core responsibility, through case management practice, to promote the safety and wellbeing of children in the care of the CEO. At a minimum, a Case Manager must have meaningful face-to-face contact with each child they case manage once every six weeks, or arrange for an appropriate third party to have face-to-face contact.

Case management practice is an ongoing process of meaningful engagement with the child, and their family, the child's natural support network, their Carer, other significant or culturally relevant people nominated by the child or their family. The engagement must be conducted in a language and manner that the participants will understand.

Case management must be a trauma informed process and have an outcomes focus, utilising Signs of Safety practice. Achieving safety and wellbeing of the child is the primary concern, together with connection, stability and permanency for the child's future care. Case management is child centred – there should be consistency of service provision to the child regardless of a change in their place of care.

Effective case management will include a holistic assessment of the child and their family to identify existing strengths, specific needs and worries, and document the actions that must be taken to address the identified needs. It will include development of a comprehensive Care Plan, implementation of the Care Plan, and ongoing monitoring, review and timely decision making to support the achievement of identified goals. Refer to Care Planning policy and procedure.

The Case Manager will provide the opportunities for the child and their family to actively participate in decisions related to the child's care, express their views and wishes, voice their opinions, provide feedback, and raise concerns or worries. The Case Manager must ensure that priority issues are addressed. Decision making and Care Planning should be family led and child centred. Decisions regarding safety and wellbeing will involve the child, their parents, all naturally connected support network members and the child's Carer.

Case management is responsive to the child and their family's cultural and language needs, and when the child is Aboriginal, is to be informed by Aboriginal Community Workers or Aboriginal Practice Advisors, and the Aboriginal Cultural Security Framework.

When a young person in the CEO's Care enters the Youth Justice System

When a child in the Care of the CEO is engaged, or at risk of engagement with the Youth Justice system, case management will be led by the Territory Families Care and Protection Case Manager. The lead Case Manager is responsible for initiating and prioritising the case management actions, in collaboration with Youth Justice Detention Operational teams and Community Support and Programs Youth Justice Officers. The aim of this collaboration is to ensure a timely response for the young person which will address their needs and support their future success.

Working collaboratively Territory Families will develop an individualised approach suited to the young person’s circumstances in order to provide:

- Continuous assessment and provision of ongoing supports to the young person;
- Appropriate arrangements for the young person’s release and integration back into the community;
- Ongoing Care Plan and Transition from Care needs that accurately reflect the Care Plan goal and associated activities;
- Case planning that supports the young person to comply with the conditions of their Youth Justice Court Order (if applicable); and
- Youth Justice Specialist Assessment and Treatment Services that address the young person’s identified criminogenic needs.
